

AMBULANCE SERVICE

SEADOWN
VETERINARY SERVICES

Seadown Veterinary Group has its own ambulance to transport animals to and from different branches, and if needs be pick your pet up from your own home.

The ambulance is designed specifically to transport animals comfortably and safely. Hygiene is also very important and its stainless steel dividers and rubber flooring is practical and easy to clean.

We provide this service for owners with no or limited transport to deliver pets to the hospital for treatment or surgery. For routine procedures, your pet is returned to the branch practice the following day for collection.

This service is free if pre-booked on the days listed. The ambulance is also used to collect animals from home, particularly if your pet is very unwell, or too big to lift or carry. In these circumstances transportation would be arranged on an individual basis.

We also use the ambulance for transportation of equipment, for example taking an x-ray machine or scanner to a visit.

For more information please contact the practice or drop into one of our branches.
